themselves to destruction at the hands of merchantmen.

Therefore, by a general arrangement among the belligerents, submarines should be required to adhere strictly to the present provisions of international law to stop and search merchant ships to ascertain their belligerent character and to remove the passengers and crews to safety before sinking them.

On the other hand, merchant vessels should not be permitted to carry any armament at all.

There is grave doubt of the legal right to carry armament on merchant ships and it is submitted that all nations should be animated by a desire to save the lives of innocent people and therefore should not insist upon the exercise of any supposed technical right.

Is your government willing to make such a declaration conditioned on a similar declaration by its enemies?

The United States government has been very much impressed with the argument that have advanced in certain quarters that any merchant vessel which carries guns in any position capable of use against warships has forfeited her non-combatant character and may be regarded as an auxiliary cruiser and is certainly considering the announcement of a purpose to ~~destroy~~ ~~submarines~~ ~~on the basis of~~ because of the changed conditions in maritime warfare resulting from the introduction of the submarines and the defenseless character.

The foregoing is substantially the note which Secretary Lansing yesterday announced he had transmitted to a foreign power of powers. He refused to discuss the subject further.

Late today Secretary Lansing formally announced that such a note had been sent to the belligerents. He said it was purely in the interest of humanity and did not bind the United States to any new principles if it were not accepted.

Washington, Jan. 28.—The Italian

Something will bust at the armory tonight. The undisciplined high school and the similarly unsupervised University will collide in a city league game. It stands to reason that somebody's record will crack under the strain. The game will begin at 8 o'clock. Everybody welcome at two-bits per ticket.

At 9 o'clock the Indian school five and the Forest Service team will meet. No extra charge for the spectacle, which includes the first appearance of the redskins on any floor in a regular league game. They are dark, mysterious possibilities in the race.

The defense entered before testifying as evidence Klein's annual report and the department's book of rules. By the annual report, it is said, it is expected to show that an unwaranted amount of gasoline was consumed by the chief's car. Testimony introduced early in the hearing designed to show that Klein used the car for social calls.

The defense entered in evidence a communication recently sent to collectors by the Rocky Mountain Underwriters association to the effect that insurance rates were constantly being lowered in the business district because the efficient service reduced fire risks.

The prosecution before testifying entered as evidence Klein's annual report and the department's book of rules.
